DARCO

This new ankle bandage from the DARCO family of bandages is an ideal support for constant use, whether in sport or daily life: with the Body Armor® Ankle Flex the ankle is stabilized and protected according to the indication. The high-quality bandage »Made in Germany« meets all the requirements for an accurately fitting and modern ankle bandage.

Body Armor® Ankle Flex

The modern production method makes the bandage very comfortable to wear. Areas of different strength, incorporated silicone pads and plantar reinforcement support the foot's physiological structures.

The high functionality is used both in the acute phase and in rehabilitation or as a prophylactic measure for weak ligaments. A high degree of mobility combined with secure support and stability function is an important aspect. This comfort in wear is highly important especially if ligaments are weak or irritation is present. In addition, the foot is supported by plantar reinforcement and the silicone pads incorporated on both sides increase the circulation. Effusions are thereby reabsorbed and pain is alleviated.
